Project Design Brief

Since StormBrixx® HD is 95% storage efficient, the entire 4,500 ft³ system fits into less space than the original HDPE system. One layer of StormBrixx® HD divided into two tank areas allows the system to provide the required storage volume while fitting within the available landscape area. The new design required 50% less excavation on site. An easy to install system was a big advantage since the system needed to be installed during the winter with snow on the ground.

Benefits

- StormBrixx® HD system is modular, lightweight and requires no heavy equipment for installation or rock for structural stability.
